11-401. Schedule of Residential District Regulations. The tabulation of regulations governing the permitted uses and area and bulk regulations for each residential district, in the City of Paris, is as indicated in Table 1 and Table 2 of this ordinance.

11-402. R-1 Residential District. Within the R-1 district as shown on the Official Zoning Map of Paris, Tennessee, the following regulations shall apply:

- A. Intent. The R-1 single family residential district is intended to be the most restrictive of the residential districts. It is the specific intent of this ordinance to exclude mobile homes within this district. The intent is to allow predominantly single-family detached dwellings in suitable residential areas characterized by an open appearance and low population densities. The R-1 district is intended to be defined and protected from the encroachment of non-residential uses including buildings or other structures and uses having commercial characteristics or other environmentally unsound or incompatible uses. Internal stability, attractiveness, order, and efficiency are encouraged by providing for adequate light, air, and open space for dwellings and related facilities.

- B. Principal Uses and Structures Permitted by Right. The uses permitted by right in this district are indicated in Table 1 and as follows: Single-family Detached Dwellings, Zero Lot Line Developments.
- C. Principal Uses and Structures Permitted Subject to Special Conditions. The uses permitted as conditional uses or special permit uses in this district are indicated in Table 1 and are subject to the applicable procedures and standards set forth in Section 11-800 and Section 11-900.

Three different types of R-1 development are provided for in Table 2 based on the density allowed in the specific districts. The different density levels are intended to allow future development compatible with the immediate neighborhood. It is the specific intent of this Ordinance that the Paris Municipal Regional Planning Commission shall recommend amendments to change the boundary lines within the R-1, R-2, and R-3 Districts as low density, medium density, and high density to the Board of Commissioners of the City of Paris, Tennessee. - A. Intent. The regulations established in this section are intended to provide optional methods of residential development by which tracts of land may be developed through an overall unified approach rather than the conventional single lot development permitted in existing residential districts in this ordinance. The type of residential development permitted in this section is characterized by a unified building and site plan which allows the maximum use of open space and maximum provisions for religious, education, and cultural facilities which are integrated with the total development.
- B. Permitted Principal and Accessory Uses and Structures. The following are permitted by right: Single-family attached and detached dwellings: Two-family duplex dwellings: and, Multiple-family dwellings.

 - (c) Buildings, off-street parking and loading facilities, open space, landscaping, and screening shall provide protection outside the boundary lines of the development comparable to that otherwise required of development in the zone.
 - (d) The building coverage for any group housing development shall not exceed that which is permitted for construction in the zone.

D. Permitted Density.

1. The Group Housing Development may result in a density in excess of the density otherwise permitted within the zone in which the development is to be constructed not to exceed five percent.
2. An increase in density of over five percent but less than 10 percent can be permitted by the Board of Zoning Appeals if the arrangement of yards and common open space is found to provide superior protection to existing or future development on adjacent property.
3. If the Planning Commission finds that any of the following conditions would be created by an increase in density permitted by this section, it may either prohibit any increase in density permitted by this section, or limit the increased density by an amount which is sufficient to avoid the creation of any of these conditions.
 - (a) Inconvenient or unsafe access to the planned unit development.
 - (b) Traffic congestion in the streets which adjoin the group housing development.
 - (c) An excessive burden on sewerage, water supply, parks, recreational areas, schools or other public facilities which serve or are proposed to serve the development.

E. Common Open Space.

1. No open area may be accepted as common open space within a group housing development unless it meets the following requirements:
 - (a) The location, shape, size, and character of the common open space is suitable for the development. Within any yard setback or area between buildings, an area equivalent to seventy (70) percent of any required yard or any required minimum area between buildings must be suitably landscaped and developed as usable open space or recreational area available to the residents of the development. These areas shall be kept free of all vehicular uses and shall not be used for off-street parking areas.
 - (b) The common open space is for amenity or recreational purposes and the uses authorized are appropriate to the scale and character of the development, considering its size, density, expected population, topography, and the number and type of dwellings provided.
 - (c) Common open space will be suitably improved for fits intended use, except that common open space containing natural features worthy of preservation may be left unimproved. The buildings, structures and improvements to be permitted in the common open space are appropriate to the uses which are authorized for the common open space.
 - (d) The development schedule which is part of the development plan coordinates the improvement of the common open space and the construction of buildings and other structures in the common open space with the construction of residential dwellings in the development.
 - (e) If buildings, structures or other improvements are to be made in the common open space, the developer provides a bond or other adequate assurance that the buildings, structures and improvements will be completed. 2. Land shown on the final development plan as common open space shall be maintained under one of the following options:
 - (a) To be retained by the developer who agrees to maintain the common open space and any buildings, structures or other improvements which have been placed on it. Plans for improvements and maintenance of the common open space shall be approved by the Planning Commission and restrictive covenants made to assure continuing use of the land for common open space purposes.
 - (b) To be conveyed to an association of owners or tenants, created as a nonprofit corporation under the laws of the state, which shall adopt and impose articles of incorporation and bylaws and adopt and impose a declaration of covenants and restrictions on the common open space that is acceptable to the Planning Commission as providing for the continuing care of the space. Such an association shall be formed and continued for the purpose of maintaining the common open space.
3. No common open space may be put to a use not specified in the final development plan unless a final development plan is first amended to permit the use. However, no change of use may be considered as a waiver of any of the covenants limiting the use of common open space areas, and all rights to enforce these covenants against any use permitted are expressly reserved.

F. Procedure for Approval. An applicant shall include with the application for approval of a group housing development either a sketch plan or a preliminary development plan as follows:
